

1.Multi-Site Manager (MSM)

AEM's Multi-Site Manager (MSM) enables efficient management of multiple websites that share content and structure. It ensures consistency across different regional or language-specific versions of a site.

Blueprint

A Blueprint serves as the master site from which multiple Live Copies are derived. It establishes the site's structure, design, and content.

Live Copy

A Live Copy is a website that remains linked to the Blueprint, inheriting its content. Any modifications in the Blueprint can be synchronized with the Live Copy.

Rollout

Rollout refers to the process of applying updates from the Blueprint to Live Copies. This can be executed manually or set to occur automatically.

2.Language Copy

A Language Copy is a separate version of a website created for a specific language. It is typically used for translation purposes—either done manually or via translation services.

Unlike Live Copies in MSM, a Language Copy does not maintain a dynamic link to the original site. Once created, it becomes an independent version that can be edited and customized without affecting or being affected by the source site.
